If you feel trapped under piles of paperwork – records and documents that you never find the time to organize – there is someone who can help: Katherine Trezise of “Absolutely Organized,” a professional organizing service that will come to your home or office, on an hourly basis, and rescue you.

When I read about “Absolutely Organized” in The Jeffersonian before the holidays, I decided that the perfect Christmas gift for my hubby would be a gift certificate for several hours of Ms. Trezise’s services. At our house, the tons of paperwork has spread from our den/office to the dining room table where Dan finds it more convenient to work. He was a bit taken aback by my present at first – what, him need assistance in getting organized? However, after three hours of Kathy’s professional organizing, great piles of family records and historical documents dating back 20 or 25 years had shrunk into neatly labeled folders – and Dan was mighty pleased.
